Modular socket distribution boxes typically range from $0.08 per unit for basic wholesale units to $50–$200 for branded, feature-rich models.

Overview
Wholesale Modular Socket Boxes: Basic modular socket boxes with RJ45, USB, and standard outlets can start as low as $0.08 per unit when purchased in bulk from suppliers like Alibaba, making them ideal for distributors or resale purposes.

Branded Distribution Boards: Premium brands such as Legrand offer modular distribution boxes and switchboards with multiple configurations, IP protection, and industrial-grade components. Prices for these can range from $50 to $200 or more, depending on the model, number of modules, and features like surge protection or industrial plugs.

Havells Distribution Boards: Designed for residential, commercial, and industrial use, these boards focus on safety and organized power distribution. Pricing varies based on size, number of circuits, and material quality, typically in the mid-range segment.

Retail and Online Options: Platforms like Amazon and Intratec provide modular distribution boxes for construction, emergency, or hobby use. Prices depend on outlet configuration, circuit breaker inclusion, and IP rating, generally ranging from $30 to $150.

Factors Affecting Price
Brand and Quality: Well-known brands with certifications and warranties cost more than generic or unbranded units.

Number of Modules: Larger boxes with more slots for sockets, breakers, or switches increase the price.

IP Rating: Boxes with higher protection against dust and water (IP65/IP67) are more expensive.

Material and Durability: Metal enclosures or heavy-duty plastic boxes designed for industrial use cost more than standard plastic boxes.

Additional Features: Integrated USB ports, RJ45 outlets, surge protection, or modular expandability can increase the price.

Buying Tips
