

Price of 48-core main optical cable

AI Overview

The cost of a 48-core optical fiber cable typically ranges from $1 to $6 per foot, depending on type, construction, and purchase quantity. Pricing Overview The price of a 48-core fiber optic cable varies based on fiber type, cable construction, and installation requirements. For standard single-mode or multimode cables: Single-mode fiber: $0.10 to $0.50 per foot for the cable itself, with higher strand counts increasing the cost proportionally. Multimode fiber: $0.30 to $1.00 per foot, with 48-strand cables generally around $1 per foot. High-end or armored cables: For outdoor, direct-burial, or OPGW (Optical Ground Wire) types, prices can reach $5–$6 per foot due to additional protective layers and environmental resistance. For bulk or wholesale purchases, costs can be 20–40% lower than retail prices. Pre-terminated or factory-assembled cables may incur additional costs depending on connector type and fiber count. OPGW 48-Core Cables OPGW cables, commonly used for overhead power lines, combine lightning protection and high-speed optical communication. These are typically more expensive than standard indoor or duct cables due to their dual functionality and robust construction. Prices vary based on fiber mix, armor type, and environmental specifications, and are often customized per project. Manufacturer and Online Pricing Examples Mouser Electronics lists 48-fiber cables with pricing dependent on specifications and quantity. Hongan Group and Huadong Cable Group provide 48-core cables for outdoor and indoor applications, with prices per meter available upon request, often starting from a few dollars per meter for standard single-mode cables. Factors Affecting Cost Fiber Type: Single-mode vs multimode. Cable Construction: Indoor, plenum-rated, armored, or OPGW. Installation Environment: Aerial, duct, or direct burial. Quantity: Bulk orders reduce per-foot or per-meter cost. Customization: Special fiber mixes, jackets, or pre-terminated assemblies increase price. In summary, for a 48-core optical fiber cable, expect $1–$6 per foot...
