

Price per unit of tray-type cable trays in Malta

AI Overview

Cable trays in Malta typically range from €15 to €34 for consumer-grade products, with industrial or bulk B2B options costing from under €1 up to €76 depending on material and specifications. Local Supplier Pricing BigMat Malta offers various cable management solutions, including floor and wall trunking, with lengths around 2–2.9 meters and widths from 7–10 cm. Prices are generally in the €15–€34 range for standard consumer or office applications. XOL Malta and Brownrig Supplies provide galvanized steel and other industrial-grade cable trays suitable for commercial and construction projects. Exact prices vary by material, size, and load capacity, but these suppliers cater to both small-scale and large-scale installations.

Material and Type Considerations Steel or galvanized steel trays are more durable and suitable for industrial use, often priced higher. Aluminum trays are lighter and corrosion-resistant, with moderate pricing. Stainless steel or fireproof FRP trays are premium options, typically used in high-safety or specialized environments, commanding higher prices up to €76 per unit in bulk B2B purchases.

B2C vs B2B Pricing B2C (retail) prices: €15–€34 per tray, suitable for home, office, or small commercial projects. B2B (bulk) prices: €0.80–€76 per tray depending on volume, material, and specifications. Bulk purchases often offer better ROI for construction or industrial projects but require larger initial investment.

Factors Affecting Price Material: Steel, aluminum, stainless steel, or FRP. Size and load capacity: Wider or longer trays cost more. Fireproofing and safety compliance: Fire-resistant trays are more expensive. Ease of installation: No-drill clamps or modular systems may increase cost. Supplier and brand reputation: Established brands may charge a premium.

In summary, for standard consumer cable trays in Malta, expect €15–€34 per unit, while industrial or bulk orders can range from...
